Americanism rally draws 200 at city hall

By RICH ADAMS
Some 200 students and adults gathered in front of Bay St. Louis City Hall Friday afternoon at an Americanism demonstration to show support for 50 hostages being held by Iranian students in Tehran.
Church bells rang in the background as St. Stanislaus and Bay St. Louis High School students conducted the peaceful demonstration, which included speeches by Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett, Waveland Alderman Barbara Rappold in the absence of Waveland Mayor Johnny Longo, and State Representative J.P. Compretta.
The crowd, waving small American flags during the assembly, applauded at the playing of "God Bless America" at the end of the presentation and at pleas for national strength during Compretta's speech.
The assembly came after students attempted last week to organize another demonstration and burn an Iranian flag.
That protest did not materialize after Bay St. Louis Police Chief Douglas Williams called the event off, fearing the flag burning would lead to more violent demonstrations.

Carlos Lozano, a St. Stanislaus student who emceed the event, said the gathering was a "peaceful demonstration against the great injustice" brought about by the takeover in the American Embassy by Iranian students earlier this month.
Jimmy Collins, another student, then led the crowd in the Pledge of Allegiance after analyzing the meaning of the Pledge.
Mayor Bennett expressed his pride in the patriotic nature demonstrated by the local students.
"We have heard words like patriotism and Americanism, and these students here symbolize those words," the mayor told the crowd.
He then referred to the students as the nation's future leaders and re-emphasized his pride.
Rappold delivered a short statement for Mayor Longo, who she said could not be present at the demonstration.

Compretta then delivered a strong speech criticizing the Iranian government for condoning the takeover of the Embassy.
"We, as Americans, are sick and

Two arrested for truck theft

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Two Lakeshore residents were placed under arrest Saturday for the alleged theft and stripping of a truck according to Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner.
Placed in county jail were Wayne M. Champagne and Gerald Champagne with bond set at $10,000 each for car theft, Ladner reported.
"Two persons visited a local car dealer on Sat. Nov. 24 and wanted to see a 1976 used truck. They never returned with the vehicle. On Sunday, Nov. 25 we received a call in the afternoon reporting a truck by the railroad tracks in Lakeshore. Deputies A. J. Cuevas and Willie Lee checked it out and found out that it had been stripped. Our office checked with the car dealership and he reported the truck was the one taken for a tryout but never returned," Sheriff Ladner commented.
The sheriff said his office received a tip Friday on the whereabouts of the truck parts.
"We visited the residence and were told no, they did not know anything about the truck. The two suspects were taken to the office for questioning and one was identified by the car salesman as one of the people who tried out the truck, which never returned," Sheriff Ladner said.
An investigation by the sheriff's office led to the recovery of every part taken from the vehicle except a shroud and battery according to Deputy Delbert Seay.
The parts were found in the Champagne's yard under some wood the sheriff said.

Trio jailed for using expired credit cards

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The Friday arrest of three persons by Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner and Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson ended a nationwide search for the users of expired Credit Cards, according to a credit card executive.
The trio, Larry C. White, 32, Kenner, La.; John D. Mayo, 24, Gulfport and Linda M. Mayo, 29, Gulfport were placed under $25,000 bond each after being held in the Hancock County jail according to Sheriff Ladner.
"Rene C. Jacques, a credit card corporation representative told me they had been looking all over the United States for the persons using the expired credit cards," Sheriff Ladner said.
"A total of over $5,400 had been charged by the end of last month and they had already charged over $1,400 this month," Sheriff Ladner commented.
The sheriff said his office received a telephone call from the Sportsman's Paradise in Waveland at about 2 p.m. Friday. A store employee informed the sheriff's office that persons making a purchase of some 45 caliber ammunition in the amount of $23, charged it on an expired credit card. One person in the group was recognized as being an individual who allegedly purchased some items a few days ago at the same store and was previously informed the credit card had expired.

Sheriff Ladner reported that he and Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson answered the call. They saw the vehicle described across the highway at Our Shopping Center.
"Ronnie (Peterson) apprehended two men who were in the van and I saw the women described in a dress store making a purchase, using a credit card. I then arrested her," the sheriff allowed.
Ladner explained, "After we made the arrest, we called the toll free number of the credit card company and were told the credit card had expired and they were looking for the people using it."

House moved after years of controversy

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The home of Mr. and Mrs. Manard Deas, US-90 West, Bay St. Louis, which has caused a controversy over its location, has been moved. The home was constructed in 1960, according to Mr. Deas, but was apparently built on the wrong location.
Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner was served a Writ for Possession on Sept. 21, 1979, commanding him to remove the fence and buildings encroaching on the property of Madeline Celine Leigh.
Mr. Deas, 79, and his wife, 70, were under the assumption the home was constructed on their property.
Mr. Deas said Friday, "We purchased the property in 1954 and fenced it in 1958."

House Mover Johnny Young of Dedeaux Community started the house moving on Wednesday and was planning on finishing the job yesterday.
Mr. Deas commented, "I tried to purchase the land from the people who claimed ownership, even tried to swap with them."
In addition to the moving of the house, which was built by Jim Walker's according to Mr. Deas, 1200 foot of fencing had to be moved.
"We are trying to help the old couple out as much as we possibly can. We have had several of the trustees under the direction of R. D. Ladner, jailer, Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson, Deputy Delbert Seay and myself doing whatever we can for the two people," Sheriff Ladner said.
Mr. Deas reported that Sheriff Ladner even personally offered to pay the motel bill for them while the house was being moved.
Sheriff Ladner said the house was only about 40 feet from the property lines established by a recent survey.
"The couple had several dogs and nobody wanted to come out here and do anything. We had trouble in getting a surveyor as there is only one in the County and I am being sued by the property owners," Sheriff Ladner allowed.
The property is near the NASA Easement area on US-90. Mr. Deas has been living in another house on his property and his wife is reportedly staying with a neighbor.
Sheriff Ladner is being sued for $21,000 plus $1,050 and statutory damages of $1,050 for delay in removing the house.
Court records apparently go back to April, 1969 on attempts by the property owners to have the encroaching fence and building removed.

FLAG WAVEERS—Many of the spectators at Friday's Americanism demonstration waved small flags to show their support of the United States government. Some 200 people attended the rally in front of Bay St. Louis city hall. Speakers for the event were J.P. Compretta, state representative; Larry Bennett, mayor of Bay St. Louis; Barbara Rappold, a Waveland alderman; and several students. (Staff photo by Rich Adams)

Washington Street residents complain of road blockage

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett called an emergency meeting Wednesday of the Bay Council for residents of Washington Street to discuss problems caused by sewer installation.
The primary gripe of the residents of Washington Street was the fact that they were blocked in from both directions on their street due to the repairs.

Among those appearing before the Council was Olen Bounds who reported that he himself had been involved in sewer work all over the county.
Bounds said, "What are you going to do so we can get in and out. We understand a couple days, but a month and half is something else. A dozer got stuck in front of my house this afternoon."
One resident told how she had a 16-month-old baby and worked nights and that it was a job for her to lug a 25-pound child down the muddy street at night after work.
Another resident told about a hole in front of his house being there for two weeks and said it was "large enough to raise catfish in."
The group were assured by the Mayor and Council that by Friday evening at least one side of the street would be passable for them to get in and out over the weekend.
James Thriffley, Council member stated, "When we signed the contract with this project, the engineer told us because of the narrow streets, the residents would be severely inconvenienced. The people of Main Street were inconvenienced for a year and we feel sorry for you."

Councilman Wagner commented, "The main thing here is that these people have a problem. We need to discuss this with the engineer and contractor and see what can be done."
Council President Pete Benvenuti told the group, "I know what you are going through as I was still in the Marines stationed in New Orleans when the sewerage went in on Felicite Streets. I had to walk through the mud to my brother's house before I could put my uniforms on in the mornings and change there before returning home in the evening. For Christmas my family and I had to roll our Christmas presents in a wheelbarrow to get them in."
Councilman William Seymour, the only council member not on City sewerage said, "I have heard these

Volunteer dies after boat search

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
A Picaune man was rescued Thursday morning after being stranded in his boat over 24 hours in freezing weather on the Pearl River.
While assisting Civil Defense Director Bobby Boudin in his search for the missing boater Pearlington resident J.E. Landrum, 71, became ill and later died in route to Picaune Hospital from natural causes.
Wednesday, Boudin received a 9:45 p.m. call from Mrs. Harry Rice of Picaune requesting a search for her husband. Rice had begun fishing at 10 a.m. Wednesday and had not returned by sun down.

Boudin contacted Roy Baxter of Pearlington because he was familiar with the inlets and bayous of the Pearl River. Baxter was ill and referred Boudin to Landrum.
"Landrum said he would give me a hand and by 10:15 p.m. we began searching up and down the Pearl and Middle Pearl Rivers," Boudin said.
"About 1 a.m. Thursday morning Landrum said he felt hot and I immediately knew it was a sign of high blood pressure. He said he had just taken a pill so we went right back to the dock and I drove Landrum home," Boudin explained.
Boudin went back to his boat to continue his search and found out later that morning the man had died.
Meanwhile, Roy Baxter contacted an oil company helicopter to aid in the search.
Thursday morning Baxter boarded the helicopter and began the search.
About 10 a.m. a combined boat and helicopter search found Rice in apparent good condition.
Boudin says, "I wish there was another man like Landrum. He was a real fine fella to go with me under the circumstances."
"I wish we had more people in Hancock County that thought as much of his fellow man as Mr. Landrum did," Boudin added.
Landrum was a native of Hancock County and an oil field researcher.

Fire destroys kitchen in Mr. Coffee blaze

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
A kitchen in the home of Regina Stubbfield, 308 Vacation Lane, Waveland was gutted by flames Saturday morning about 11 a.m. causing approximately $4,500 damages according to Waveland Fire Marshall Lee Ferrell.
Ferrell said, "The fire was apparently started by faulty wiring in the plug or wiring inside of a Mr. Coffee coffee maker."
Ms. Stubbfield said she had gone across the street to visit a neighbor and had left the coffee making appliance on.
Neighbor Albert Signorelli was raking leaves in his yard when he "smelled wood burning" and saw smoke coming from the Stubbfield residence.

Signorelli notified neighbor Lewis Botsay who immediately called the Waveland Fire Department.
Signorelli, Botsay and Prather Necaise contained the fire to the kitchen area with water from garden hoses for a few minutes until the fire department arrived.
The Waveland Fire Department battled flames for about 20-25 minutes until the fire was brought under control and smoke aired from the home.
Ferrell commended Signorelli, Botsay and Necaise for their quick action in containing the fire and credited them for helping save the home from total destruction.

Postmaster details 'priority' service

One of the lesser known, but very effective package delivery services offered by the U.S. Postal Service is priority mail, according to Bay St. Louis Postmaster Tom Hill.

"When you send a package by priority mail, it is separated from the regular parcel mail stream and treated as first-class mail," said Hill.

"If the destination is nearby, the package receives expedited surface transportation. For other places in the U.S., priority mail packages go by air," he said. As a result, more than 95 percent of priority mail packages are delivered the next day, and over 90 percent are delivered within three days. Postmaster Hill explained that the cost for a small package is not much more than parcel post and about one-third the cost of overnight services.

For example, a one-pound package sent from New York to Los Angeles costs only $2.25. A five-pound package mailed coast-to-coast costs only $4.83.

Another advantage, says Hill, is that priority mail delivers packages everywhere in the United States unlike competitive parcel services which cannot deliver to every address in the country.

Through international agreements with other 160 countries, packages can be delivered anywhere in the world that mail is delivered. Packages for foreign countries must specify "Air," however.

A wide variety of options such as insurance, c.o.d. and special delivery are available for use with priority mail.

The postmaster urged package mailers to specify priority mail the next time they have packages that need prompt delivery, but don't justify the high cost of overnight service.

"Of course, if you have a package that has to get there overnight, then express mail is probably your answer," the postmaster pointed out. "And if cost is the major consideration, then the best buy is parcel post, especially for heavier packages going long distances."

Works of internationally recognized painter James Pinto will hang in the Ole Miss Fine Arts Gallery during November. Joining him at the opening reception in his honor Nov. 5 was sculptor Georgia V. Clark, whose work is also included in the show. Pinto, a native of Yugoslavia, is dean of the faculty and professor emeritus of art at the Instituto Allende in San Miguel de Allende, Mexico, and his work is included in over 10 major art books as well as in important art collections around the world. Many of his paintings are inspired by nature, and he developed a particular affinity for Mexico's landscape and people since he took up residence there in 1950. The Fine Arts Gallery is open from 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. weekdays.

LANDOWNERS

Do you need more income from your timberland? Hercules Incorporated has developed a process for converting the stump of a living pine tree into lightwood. With this new process, Hercules pays landowners for the right to treat the stumps of their pine timber while the trees are still growing and remove the stumps after the trees are harvested. With the stumps removed, the land is left in excellent condition for reforestation or conversion into other uses, such as pasture or row cropping.

To participate in the program, landowners need only to have merchantable pine timber which they plan to harvest within the next few years. To learn more about the program, call Mike Petter, 601-898-9472, Gulfport, Mississippi, or write or call Hercules Incorporated, Hattiesburg, Mississippi, 39401, phone number 601-545-3450.

all-state band

Eight Pearl River River College band members, one from Bay St. Louis, are included in the Mississippi Junior College All-State Band. The Pearl River students competed against 13 other junior colleges on the campus of Copiah-Lincoln and are part of the elite 95 member group.

"I was really proud of the students chosen for this honor," said Dr. Jerry Wilkinson, director of the PRC band, "they have and will represent PRC well."

Wilkinson said more PRC students would have tried out if the audition had not come during football season. "We have several flag and rifle members that didn't compete because they just did not have the time."

PRC had eight students to compete with six making All-State and two chose All-State alternates.

The All-State players will be Melinda Smith, ay St. Louis; Jay Taylor, Bogalusa; Charles Foster, Biloxi; Eugene Stahl, Wichita, Texas; Robbie Hill, Hattiesburg; Ricky Aldridge, Poplarville; and alternates Michelle Manuel, Carrier and Larry Rogers of Picayune.

Pearl River will host the junior college band clinic here December 5, 6, 7, with the group's final performance planned for the Royal D'Arville in Biloxi on Saturday, December 8.

The Mississippi All-State Band, under the direction of Bryan Herring of Itawamba, will perform for the Mississippi State High School Band Clinic, which is composed of 400 Mississippi High School band members.

PRC's band units will perform in several Christmas parades including Poplarville, Columbia, Picayune and Hattiesburg.

Notice To Hancock County Home Owners

IN EARLY JANUARY, 1980, The Hancock County Assessor's office will mail to each home owner, on record, a Homestead Exemption application. This application will be mailed to you in an envelope that can be used to return the application after it is signed and will include return postage. (These special envelopes are similar to the Motor Vehicle envelopes now being used for your tag billings.) When you receive Homestead Exemption application; simply sign on the line designated, fill in Motor Vehicle tag numbers, tear off the back copy for your records and return the white, yellow and pink copies to this office. This is the first time that this service is being offered to the home owners of Hancock County and we feel that some minor problems could arise. If you do not receive your Homestead Exemption application within a reasonable time contact this office by calling 467-5727 or for those citizens living in the Picayune School District 798-8555.

Effective starting in January of 1980, those persons 100 percent disabled, under Federal Social Security, regardless of age, will be eligible for the full $5,000 exemption just as those who are 65 years of age. Those citizens who are qualified as 100 percent disabled under Federal Social Security must come to the office to complete another application. (If it is not convenient for you to come to the office, we will make arrangements to file your application with as little inconvenience as possible.)

Those citizens who are filing their Homestead Exemption application for the first time, must come to the office to file their application and should bring their deed to the property, Motor Vehicle numbers and Social Security Numbers. If this is not convenient please advise us and we will arrange to file your application in accordance with your convenience. Those citizens who have any changes to be made in their application must also come to the office and have a new application filled out for them.

This service is being offered with the intention of offering the best service possible with the least inconvenience to the people of Hancock County.

DINE OUT AT HOME

Americans enjoy eating out more often, but they pay for it! According to a recent Gallup Survey, the average price for a dinner check is $4.00-4.99 per person. What's the solution to expensive dining? Cook your favorite restaurant foods at home like some of these easy, fast-food dishes below.

CHINESE FOOD. Bring a Chinese restaurant into your kitchen with an electric wok. Meat, poultry, seafood or vegetables stir-fry quickly in this versatile appliance. Steam some rice, bring out the chopsticks, and serve almond cookies for dessert.

BURGERS. Get that fast-food style taste by making your own pan-fried burgers. Slice potatoes extra thin for french fries and use a blender to whip up a tasty shake.

CHICKEN. With the help of an innovative new appliance, you can prepare "carry out" style chicken right at home. Wear-Ever's Electric Chicken Bucket, a low pressure speed fryer, makes tender chicken, crispy fish and delicious fruit pies in one-third the time normally required. Combine "carry out" taste with "eat-in" economy!

It pays to shop at home!

With Christmas only a few weeks away, many of us still have some shopping to do.

We hope you all will see if you can find the items in Hancock County you may need before going out of town to buy.

We realize that there may be a few items you will not be able to find, but, they are very few, as you can purchase just about anything right here at home.

When you buy at home, you help the local economy in so many ways. Such as providing jobs and taxes for our municipalities and county operations.

In checking over of local Merchants, it seems that they have gone all out this year in acquiring the finest selections ever in gifts for every age group.

We hope each and everyone of you will have good shopping experience for Christmas.

Everytime you save a gallon of gas, you save over a dollar today, shopping at home can save you money in gas alone.

MISSISSIPPI ECONOMIC COUNCIL
THE STATE
CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Six major issues facing the 1980 Legislature will be discussed in Legislative Forums in Biloxi and Hattiesburg this week.

Discussion areas include Mississippi's business climate, state and county government, education, taxation, and highways. The Forums are sponsored by the Mississippi Economic Council and invitations have been sent to every state legislator, every elected state official, MEC members, and all local chambers of commerce. Similar meetings were held last week in Jackson, Greenwood, and Tupelo.

The Forums, held every four years after the election of a new Legislature and governor, will begin Dec. 4 in Biloxi at the Broadwater Beach and Dec. 5 in Hattiesburg in the Commons at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Governor-elect William Winter appeared at the Forums held in Jackson, Greenwood, and Tupelo, said MEC President Benton Cain of Jackson. "Lieutenant Governor-elect Brad Dye spoke at the Jackson Forum, and we have invited both of them to speak to the Biloxi and Hattiesburg Forums."

"We have had excellent response to these Forums during the first week," said Cain, who is the presiding officer. "The events were well attended by public officials and interested Mississippians."

Yazoo City industrialist Gene Triggs will lead off the morning's activities which start at 9:30 with a discussion of MEC's Special Committee on County Government. It was his committee that wrote the model plan after a year of study.

Lewis Whitfield, a Tupelo banker and chairman of MEC's Committee on State and Local Government, will discuss and identify weaknesses in the state's public employee personnel system. He will discuss the need for state government reorganization.

Dr. Clyde Muse of Raymond, president of Hinds Junior College and a recognized professional educator, will speak on some of the needs of education in Mississippi.

Cleveland CPA William S. Boswell, Jr., will discuss the state's tax structure and MEC's tax recommendations on property, income, and sales taxes. G.B. Beard of Jackson, a consulting engineer, former Mayor of the City of Forest, and former Council president, will speak on MEC's policies and recommendations for highway finance.

There will be a registration fee of $5.00 for MEC members and others which include the luncheon. All state officials and legislators will be guests of MEC.

BIG PINE TREE-This giant of a pine tree was spotted in the Boyon La Croix area on the property of H. (Bully) Zengarling. The tremendous size of the tree made it stand out along with very large limbs which are unusual for pines of the area. Mr. Zengarling reported that his daughters would bring friends home from college and to take photographs of each other with the tree in background. Estimates on the age of the pine are unavailable but Mr. Zengarling said it is "pretty old"

PAC Power In The Senate

by DAVID COHEN

Washington lobbyists thought it couldn't be done. Others believed the U.S. House of Representatives would never muster enough courage to limit the influence of special interest groups. But the House has finally said "enough." On October 17 by a vote of 217-198 the House of Representatives passed legislation to limit the amount of money political action committees (PACs) can contribute to House candidates. For the first time the House has placed a lid on the amount of money candidates can receive from PACs.

Now it is up to the Senate to insure that the House action becomes law. Astonishingly, although the PAC legislation only applies to House races, some Senators have announced their intention to filibuster the bill. Special interest groups, their lobbyists and their political action committees, having lost in the House, are now seeking to preserve their power through the protection of the Senate's filibuster rule. They are applying their political power to arm-twist Senators into "talking the bill to death."

Despite their loss in the House, powerful interest groups such as the American Medical Association, the National Association of Manufacturers, the National Rifle Association and others waged a fierce battle there. Threats were made to withhold campaign contributions unless Representatives voted against the PAC limit bill.

One Pennsylvania Representative, who supported limits on PACs, made public a letter he had received from the Chairman of Holiday Inn's PAC. The Chairman was turning down an invitation to the Congressman's fundraiser. However, if the Congressman was to reconsider his position supporting the PAC bill, the Chairman wrote, "We may reconsider our (financial) support."

In another instance a House member reported that an official of the Business-Industry Political Action Committee (BIPAC) indicated that the PAC limit bill would be looked at as a key vote and that a vote in support of the bill might "make it more difficult for a candidate to get business PAC money."

Such pressure is often veiled but it is always present when attempts are made to lessen the influence special interest groups have on the legislative process. Congressman James Leach (R-Iowa), a supporter of the PAC bill, spelled out the problem. "It is simply a fact of life that when big money in the form of group contributions enters the political arena, big obligations are entertained," he said.

The PACs and their lobbyists are now turning to the Senate to begin an all-out campaign to stop the PAC bill from ever being voted on. Unfortunately, some Senators have taken up the PACs' refrain and say they will filibuster the bill.

Among those Senators working to prevent this legislation from even being debated is Senate Minority Leader Howard Baker (R-Tenn.). He has promised to be at the "forefront" of a filibuster to prevent PAC limitations from House races from being voted on in the Senate. This is the same Senator Baker who is raising money in order to qualify for public financing for his presidential campaign efforts. When it comes to himself, Senator Baker will accept public money. But he follows a double standard by opposing congressional public financing and blocking efforts to limit PAC giving and spending in order to clean up House races. It is one thing to oppose legislation on the merits. That is the stuff of democratic debate. But it is another matter entirely to use Senate procedures to avoid a vote on this legislation. That is pure and unadulterated obstructionism.

Each Senator has a responsibility to allow the Senate to vote on this crucial legislation. Certainly there may be disagreement among Senators concerning the merits of the legislation. The issues should be debated and then voted on in a timely manner. A minority of Senators, however, should not be allowed to prevent the resolution of this issue. If that were to happen, the result would be to turn Congress over to control and domination by, for and of PACs.

David Cohen is President of Common Cause, a non-partisan citizens lobby.

Waveland physician concerned about effects of paraquat

November 29, 1979

Sea Coast Echo
Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

I would like to express my concern and objections to the proposed use of paraquat for harvesting stumps on 16 section forest lands in Hancock County. What (according to our area forester) "sounds like a good deal" stinks in my own opinion.

The toxicity of paraquat is well known and somewhat unique in that the administration of oxygen can aggravate clinically "POISONED" individual. I have a respect for the poison and potentially complicated management of the contaminated human victim.

That the full environmental impact might not be fully appreciated yet with this particular program could lead to such nightmares (medical-legal) as for example:

A-use of asbestos for insulation in shipyards or schools or;
B-another defoliant-agent orange which was previously used in Southeast Asia and stored in Gulfport afterwards with it's VA claim.

The following questions come to mind:

1-Where would the dilution occur since "weak solutions" come from a concentrated form? Who would be responsible for spillage and contamination?

2-Are pressure injection injuries to humans a risk or possibility?

3-Is there a chance of increased wind damage from this stress-injection since the duration of this program is over two growing seasons?

May I recommend that if one is concerned, that he call or write the regional poison control center to learn more of the signs, symptoms and treatment of a paraquat poisoning case.

What Perry County does really doesn't concern me over this particular program. Why "stress" our trees and risk additional contamination and problems in Hancock County now and for future generations.

Thankful I can express my opinion in America

President Carter calls for unity during crisis

November 27, 1979

Dear Editor:

Many Americans are looking for a way to express concern for their fellow citizens being held in Iran that is consistent with this country's respect for law.

As you know, the American Charge in Iran, Bruce Laingen, who is being held at the Foreign Ministry, has suggested that church bells be rung each noon until the hostages are released. Several members of Congress and the Attorney General also have suggested that Americans write the Iranian Mission at the United Nations to demand release of the hostages.

The President endorses these suggestions.

It is of overriding importance that Iranian authorities understand that Americans are united in their determination not to yield to blackmail and in the demand for the safe return of the hostages. Your support for these two suggestions will help prevent any miscalculation of where Americans stand in this time of crisis.

Iranian opposition in poem

Friday, Nov. 30, 1979
Letters to the Editor
Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir:

I recently composed a poem which expresses my feelings toward the crisis in Iran.

It is as follows

THE CRISIS IN IRAN

I think it's stupid,
to go to war.
To kill people,
in planes that soar.

This stupid thing
About the Shah of Iran.
Is going to kill,
Many of man.

God made us to have a brother and sister.
All-I want is peace
what about you mister?

Here you are, about to kill
49 people
Against their will.

Is that what you want,
for us to die?
That isn't for me,
Oh no! not I.

Go ahead,
Be a fool
But do it quietly,
when I'm in school.

Love thy brother,
Like thyself
And don't just look
For goodness and wealth

This is about
The crisis in Iran
If we can't stop it
Who in the world can.

The Shaw of Iran
Is our brother,
We are supposed to love him
Like we love each other

God forgive us
We did sin
And please don't Let this war begin

Please don't go to war
be understanding don't lock the door.

Give them what they want give it to them today
we don't need war
It's more peaceful this way

Well I have said
what I had to say
Bless you
And bless today

For there might not be another one
We might never again see the sun
Because this war might go on After it's over who really won?

SALTY SALLY

Washington report

By TRENT LOTT

RECOVERY PROBLEMS

By Congressman
Trent Lott
5th District,
Mississippi

In the more than two months since Hurricane Frederic slammed into South Mississippi, many people and organizations have worked hard to put the area back together again.

Just as it was after Hurricane Camille in 1969, however, a number of problems have developed. While we appreciate the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), and couldn't recover without it, the agency did not live up to its expectations.

While on the Coast during part of the House's Thanksgiving holiday period, I talked again with several local officials who expressed dissatisfaction with FEMA's operation. They pointed to some serious flaws in FEMA and its role as the lead agency in disaster recovery. For example, they cited daily changes in FEMA guidelines rules and regulations which made the recovery effort much more difficult. That concerned me, as did assistance programs through the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) to farmers in rural areas. The assistance was supposed to help farmers clean up and repair.

But, at this writing, ASCS was allowing a maximum of $100 per acre, when actually a farmer would be hard-pressed to remove even one pecan tree for that amount, not to mention other damages.

Additionally, grants have been terribly slow in coming for lower-income and elderly Mississippians. Of 11,037 applications received, 312 have been approved. But only 34—that's right, 34—grants have been disbursed.

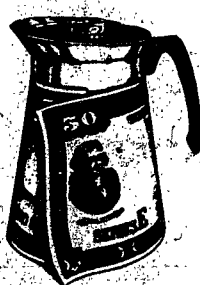

Another troubling area involved farm disaster loans through the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA). As of November 15, FmHA had received 467 applications for assistance, and 110 of them were approved. Yet, no loan money had been actually disbursed to our farmers who were still reeling from Frederic's devastation.

One holdup reportedly was that it's difficult for a farmer to apply for a loan until he knows the extent of his damages. In some cases, that meant waiting until a crop was in, but the fact that no loans had been disbursed does not speak well for the agency involved.

Already, a congressional team has visited the Coast to investigate firsthand and to try to find ways of helping others struck by disaster to benefit from our experiences. I am looking forward to this team's report on possible action in Congress to correct the flaws.

I think it's only proper to examine the operation of the federal recovery agencies and help make sure that when the next disaster strikes in America, relief comes quickly with a minimum of misunderstanding, paperwork and hassle.

Perk up your future.

Utility confab slated Monday

Mississippi Public Service Commissioner Norman A. Johnson, Jr. will preside over the National Convention and Regulatory Symposium to be held by the National Association of Regulatory Commissioners in Atlanta, Georgia, at the Peachtree Plaza Hotel beginning Monday, December 3.

Commissioner Johnson is the first Mississippian ever to serve as President of the National Association.

Johnson is considered to be one of the foremost authorities in the nation on state communications regulatory matters. He is a longtime member of the national association's Communications Committee. This year he has actively participated as a consultant in legislation to amend the Communications Act of 1934.

A large delegation from Mississippi is also expected to attend the convention and symposium.

Hancock Library System tells new books on hand

Submitted by Sherry Schwabacher
The following books are now available from any branch of the Hancock County Library System:
SO HELP ME, GOD! by Herbert Tarr. It is the height of the Vietnam War and draft dodging has become America's number one vocation. Our hero (?), Andrew Baron flees to a rabbinical school. However, he has a problem. He's not Jewish. In fact, he barely knows the difference between a bagel and a Twinkie. One mistake means loss of his deferment and Canadian exile. Searching, touching, brimming with humor, this important work is an exquisite blend of the timely and the timeless.
FORCE PLAY by Anthony Stuart. Vladimir Gull, Russian defector and simultaneous interpreter, is caught in the web of an international "placement agency," a double-dealing racket which squeezes would-be defectors on both sides of the Iron Curtain to stir up the espionage trade. A spy featuring that bon vivant of whom the Manchester Evening News has said "at last, a rival of James Bond."

PROVENANCE by Frank McDonald. PROVENANCE is a sweeping and powerful novel about a hoard of are masterpieces stolen by the Nazis during World War II—those who collected the paintings, those who stole them, and those who now propose to sell them.
THE MANGA INHERITANCE by Brian Moore. At once a mystery, a tale of passion and ambition, a search for roots, and a splendid evocation of the mist-drenched Irish landscape and its denizens, THE MANGA INHERITANCE is both scary and erotic, a primitive and visceral tour de force about the imperfections of blood and birthright.

THE MARCH by W.S. Kunizak. This extraordinary novel tells the tragic and inspiring story of the Polish people and the national nightmare of conquest and occupation that followed the invasion of Poland by Germany and Russia.
THE GREAT AMERICAN WRITING BLOCK by Thomas C. Wheeler. The author of this important and original book argues that a command of the direct, lively American Word should be a national resource, yet, writing in America is becoming a vanishing skill and a lost art. If we are to stem the crisis that betrays our finest traditions, Wheeler proposes that writing and American letters be given their rightful place in our educational system and in the culture at large.

EYEWITNESS AUSCHWITZ: THREE YEARS IN THE GAS CHAMBERS by Filip Muller. Here is a first-person account of one of the few prisoners who saw the Jewish people die and lived to tell about it. This book will further our understanding of Auschwitz, quite possible the single most important instance of man's inhumanity in the history of our century.
THE KITCHEN BOOK by Terence Conran. The scope of this book is enormous; but so is that of your kitchen. In the modern home it is not only a work room and a cooking area; so often it may also be a place where you entertain and certainly where the children play. When designing a new home or replanning an old one, says Conran, this is the room that deserves your greatest consideration— and here, from freezers to forks, is the book that will help you realize your ideal.

CONNECTIONS by James Burke. CONNECTIONS is a brilliant new examination of the ideas, inventions, and coincidences that have culminated in the major technological achievements of today. The companion volume to the magnificent ten-part television series produced by the BBC and broadcast this fall over PBS, it was conceived in the tradition of the highly popular CIVILIZATION and THE ASCENT OF MAN.
THE DEATH TRAIN by Luba Krugman Gurdus. A single family's plight becomes the mirror of Jewish suffering in World War II Poland in this personal account of a survivor of the Holocaust. Her agonizing experience is a telling evocation of the profound tragedy of all crippled by Nazi brutality and helpless in the face of mass murder.

IN OUR MODERN SOPHISTICATED SOCIETY of soft-cushioned religion we are seeing lots of religious discourses, sensationalism and pretentious evangelism passed off on a glib generation under the code names of "praise, testimony and soul-winning."

Sham and religious veneer is everywhere. The masses are being stilled on high-sounding religious rhetoric. When one brings in question the scriptural credibility of this "uncertain sound" coming from the camps of the Charismatics, Ecumenicals and "Neo-Evangelists," he is reminded that we are living in a "day of change."

To be sure, there should be change in some things-change which replaces error with truth. Change for the better is always in order. I am for change for the better, but not for the worse.

I am for any change which brings us more in harmony with the Word of God. I am unalterably opposed to any and all change which violates the principles of the Holy Scriptures.

The battle for the minds and hearts of men is raging everywhere. Many theological seminaries are hotbeds of heresy. Demon spirits are moving in high places. Satan is fronting under the guise of "scholarship" to deceive the unsuspecting.

There is a vast difference between the position of modern theological liberalism and conservatism or Biblical fundamentalism. And we will be wise to recognize the difference!

Most real Bible-believers "have had it up to here" with this late-day rash of "New Translations," "Modern Versions" and the like. Does the devil, plan to frustrate people so completely that he will finally give us a "Bible" of man's word and not God's? Is there a Satanic plan?

substitute modern thought for inspiration or "Thus saith the Lord?"

Modernism would substitute "infallible scholarship" for an infallible Book-the Bible as given to us by God through "holy men of old."

A development of religious ideas from human minds instead of a revelation from God.

Sinfully depraved men need regeneration, not reformation. It is conversion they need, and not culture. Men need a change of heart, not so much a change of in-wardness.

They got Lot's wife out of Sodom, but I am afraid they never did get Sodom out of Lot's wife. We need a cleaning from the inside.

Modern day Christianity would preach to us a social gospel instead of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. "It is about time we realize again, if indeed we have ever done so before, the urgency of preaching the Word of God as it is for men as they are."

Don't let philosophical platitudes and sophisticated pulpit manners blind you! Don't kid yourself! False religion is everywhere today as it was in other times.

"But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, and many shall follow their pernicious ways;..." II Peter 2:1-2

False doctrine should be unmasked by the Word of God for all to see and understand it for what it is, the work of Satan.

"What is false doctrine?" asked a teacher to a class of junior boys. Up went a boy's hand and there came forth this answer:

"It's when the doctor gives the wrong stuff to people who get sick and they die."

That's a pretty good description of what we are hearing from many pulpits and the new schools of modern theology.

either changes or must leave. And feel no guilt about so doing, for from what you say, your father is most insensitive. But perhaps if you are sufficiently firm you can create a healthy and normalized relationship.

Can't tell them to leave. Q. My husband came into quite a sum of money and was able to buy a big house with a small apartment on one side for my parents. Now it seems my father has taken over my house as well as the store I own.

I love my husband and he loves me, but this situation is breaking up our marriage. Several years ago my husband was in an accident and as a result he is paralyzed on one side.

He can't walk without a walker, and my father told him to leave his own house. My father weighs around 250 and my husband is no match for him. My mother has heart trouble, and I can't just tell them to leave. What can I do?

A. Of course you can tell them to leave unless your father lays off and minds his own business. Lay it on the line with him, mean it, and make it stick. Tell him he tired of being pushed around," Compretta told the crowd.

"We must show the Iranians that we are not the Toothless Tiger they believe we are," he continued.

"We must not be underestimated. We must be firm and show we will not permit this type of terrorism and blackmail to occur," the representative added.

"We do not need Iran...they need us," Compretta told the crowd, which responded with a strong round of applause.

He then explained that America is exporting 10 percent of its agricultural products to Iran, which comprises 25 percent of Iran's foodstuff.

He said people should meet President James (Jimmy) Carter's refusal to import Iranian oil by cutting back on oil use.

"All Mississippians and Americans should make an effort to conserve oil," Compretta said.

"The flag is an emblem of our freedom, and should remind us of our freedom, which we have fought so hard to retain," he concluded.

The crowd applauded Compretta's strike against the Iranian government, and the speakers on the dias stood and applauded.

Lozano then read a telegram from Governor Cliff Finch which expressed pride in the spirit of the students and expressed hope for an early end to the crisis.

Rev. Charles Clark of the Waveland Assembly of God then led the assembly in a prayer of hope for the hostages and two U.S. Marine embassy guards who were killed in a recent attack on the American Embassy in Pakistan.

In his prayer he called for world peace, and asked for a swift return of the hostages to America.

He also mentioned war, asking that America not be forced into a war, and if necessary, "to direct us during the conflict."

The assembly ended with playing of "God Bless America," and Bennett, Rappold, and Compretta answered questions on the lawn of City Hall.

The assembly Friday was planned earlier last week by C.J. Dumestre and a group of students from the two schools.

Two injured in US-90 accident

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Two people were injured in a two-car accident at the intersection of US-90 and Dunbar Avenue, Bay St. Louis, Wednesday afternoon.

Joseph Sturgis, 64, of 428 Booklet St., Bay St. Louis allegedly ran a red light crossing US-90 heading south on Dunbar Avenue and was struck on the right front fender by another car driven by Ray Donahue, 55, of Combs, Arkansas, eastbound on US-90 according to the Bay St. Louis Police Department.

Donahue's wife Anne, 54, a passenger with Donahue was taken by Mobile Medic to Hancock General Hospital to check for possible internal injuries and was released.

Sturgis was also transported to Hancock General for treatment of lacerations of the head and was released.

Lily Bermond, a police department spokesman, said, "According to the police report Sturgis was cited for running a red light and causing an accident."

"Both cars were heavily damaged and were hauled from the scene of the accident by John Perniciaro," Bermond added.

The incident was investigated by Investigator Jim Mallini, Assistant Chief of Police Frank Hess and Officer Joseph Tuti.

TEMPORARY OPENING—Joseph Phillipello, left, watches a dozer work road front of his Shoe Repair business on Washington Street, Bay St. Louis Saturday. Jim Humphrey, dozer operator, is an employee of Beta Enterprises, contractor for the installation of the sewer system in the 500 block of Washington Street. Residents of the area have been complaining to Bay St. Louis officials about being blocked in or out of their property due to street conditions. The contract for the sewer work under the Small Cities Project did not allow for street repairs and city leaders are looking for help from the supervisors in replacing the blacktopping after the sewer project is completed. people talk, we have got to do something to help them in a way in and out."

Harry Farve, whose district the sewer installation is being placed, sates, "The holes are supposed to be filled each day and not left open for a long time," in response to some of the residents complaining about how the contractor leaves the job at the end of the day.

One resident complained about the lack of mail delivery and garbage pickup because of the construction and was also concerned about the possibility of someone getting sick or a fire starting at one of the homes.

Mayor Bennett reported Friday afternoon that clam shells have been ordered and would be spread to get one lane open for the weekend.

Coast county officials meet in Bay Monday

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The Hancock, Harrison and Jackson County Board's of Supervisors, the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission and Dr. Richard Laird of the Bureau of Marine Resources will meet 11 a.m. Monday at the County Court House in Bay St. Louis.

The Hancock Board of Supervisors and County Port and Harbor Commission will jointly decide whether to accept or reject recent revisions to the conditional interagency assent previously approved at a combined meeting of both groups in mid-November.

The joint Hancock decision could determine the fate of some $25 million in Coastal Zone Management grants and loans earmarked for Jackson and Harrison Counties.

"This should be the day of final action," according to Wilson Webre, director of the County Port and Harbor Commission.

Webre met jointly with Mississippi Coast supervisors and CZM officials at the Harrison County Courthouse in Gulfport Friday.

"We met with Micheal Shapiro, assistant general council for CZM and several Washington officials who recommended changes in the contents of the interagency agreement and anything that is conditional will be taken out of the document," Webre said.

Webre commented, "They asked Hancock County to subscribe to the revisions."

"Washington officials are going to make some further revisions but Hancock County will not act officially on CZM amendments until Monday," Webre added.

Webre could not say if the county would lose control of Port Blenville Industrial Park if the joint decision is for the amended interagency agreement.

Exclusion of all conditions from the interagency document could mean that the Hancock County Board of Supervisors would not have the final decision to accept or reject the final draft of the CZM bill.

The CZM bill and the majority of funds associated with the legislation were withdrawn because of conditional agreements passed by Hancock and Harrison Counties.

Jackson County gave blanket approval of CZM legislation and Harrison County later withdrew their conditional agreement.

NSTL blasting may be shaking area houses

By RICH ADAMS

Reports from a Bay St. Louis woman who said her house was shaken by a series of blasts during the day Thursday may be attributed to explosive testing by the U.S. Army at the National Space Technology Laboratories in western Hancock County.

NSTL's Public Affairs Director Mack Herring said Thursday the Army has been conducting this sort of explosive testing for the past four or five years, and recently resumed the blasting.

Herring added, however, that the blasting might be attributed to oil survey crews which have been conducting similar explosive discharges in the Hancock County area.

"I can't say for sure that we are causing the concussion, but I can't say for sure that it isn't us either," Herring said Thursday.

"The Army is conducting tests to determine the proper placement of railroad tracks and possible deterrents if an explosion should occur," he continued.

"With the high explosives trains are carrying today, these tests will determine how large an area could be affected by a blast," Herring added.

The public relations director did not disallow the possibility that the blasts could be the result of explosives detonated by oil survey crews working in the county.

"With the advent of the oil survey teams, we are finding that the oil crews are doing similar explosions in the county," Herring said.

"I cannot say for sure who is responsible for the blasts felt in the city, but I can say that we have been conducting testing today," he emphasized Thursday.

BOOK REVIEW

THE COMPLETE SCARSDALE MEDICAL DIET

The long-awaited mass market paperback edition of THE COMPLETE SCARSDALE MEDICAL DIET by Herman Tarnower, M.D. and Samm Sinclair Baker will be published by Bantam on Jan. 1.

The work has been on the New York Times bestseller list for nearly a year in hardcover — the No. 1 bestselling nonfiction title for over 6 months.

The paperback includes the complete diet, answers to the most frequently asked questions about the diet, plus a host of Scarsdale Diet menus for the budget-conscious, vegetarians, gourmets, plus dozens of recipes.

Dr. Tarnower's revolutionary diet plan evolved during his 40 years as a noted cardiologist and internist.

Word-of-mouth spread rapidly among his patients and their friends, many of whom were experiencing as much as 20 pound weight losses with no hunger pangs or fatigue.

Mail requests for the diet came pouring in from all corners of the globe to the Scarsdale Medical Group office of Dr. Tarnower.

Hailed as "The easiest diet ever" by Family Circle, THE COMPLETE SCARSDALE MEDICAL DIET's success is best explained by its creator, Dr. Tarnower, who says simply, "It works."

30-DAY MEAL PLAN FOR DIABETICS

If planning interesting, varied, and attractive meals for a diabetic sounds like a problem, then DIABETIC MEAL PLANNING MADE

EASY! can be the answer.

DIABETIC MEAL PLANNING MADE EASY! is not a cookbook, though it does contain some recipes.

Based on the American Diabetes Association's newly revised food exchange system, it is a complete 30-day meal plan for diabetics—30 different breakfasts, 30 different lunches, and 30 different dinners plus 60 snack ideas.

The book by Marilyn White, a diabetic, is now in its third printing. It is published by L&M Enterprises, Dept. 1179, Box 90131, Nashville TN 37209 and is available from that address for $3.25 per copy plus 50 cents postage.

Challenged by a diabetic friends' plea for help in planning her family's meals, Mrs. White developed the simple 30-day meal planning guide for the 10 million people in the United States who have diabetes.

Mrs. White has compiled two cookbooks and has written for many publications in the last fifteen years.

One of the biggest problems a diabetic faces is knowing how to plan the food he must eat," Mrs. White said. "Too much food as well as too little food or the wrong kinds of food can cause serious reaction problems. To help me, a diabetic, with meal planning, I began charting the food I should eat each day."

DIABETIC MEAL PLANNING MADE EASY! is the result of that detailed planning.

"DIABETIC MEAL PLANNING MADE EASY! was written primarily to help diabetics realize they can eat well on their prescribed diet," she added. "A new diabetic is diagnosed every 60 seconds, according to the American Diabetes Association."

RANCHER—Cattle rancher Petesy Smith goes about her daily chores on her ranch near Vicksburg. A feature on Ms. Smith will be included on "Farmweek" at 7:30 p.m., Monday, Dec. 3, on the Mississippi ETV Network. "Farmweek" is a co-production of Mississippi ETV and the Mississippi cooperative Extension Service. It will be rebroadcast at 7:30 a.m., Tuesday, Dec. 4.

Sones named PRJC vo-tech coordinator

Dr. James C. Sones, former vocational-technical director of the Pearl River College Lamar County Center, has taken over Al Brooks' position as vocational-technical coordinator of all PRC centers.

Sone was named coordinator at a meeting of the PRC Board of Trustees.

Sones said, "I just want to assess the needs as far as vocational-technical education is concerned in the Pearl River district, and try to meet these needs the best that I possibly can."

Sones is coordinator of the Poplarville, Hancock County, Forrest County and Lamar County vo-tech centers.

A native of Pearl River County, Sones has worked for the Pearl River district for the last nine years. He graduated from McNeill High School in 1957, and is also a graduate of PRC.

In 1963 Sones graduated from Mississippi State with a B.S. in agriculture. He then worked as vocational agriculture instructor for seven years. The first five being spent at East Central High School in Lucedale, Mississippi.

Sones received his M.A. in agriculture and began working as Manpower Training supervisor at Hattiesburg in 1970, and in 1972 he began working at PRC in Hancock County as the initial director of the vocational technical center.

He continued there until 1978 when he received his Ph. D. in vocational administration and supervisor from Colorado State University.

Sones said that though vocational education may seem a small part of PRC, it is actually a large part. Including all four centers there are more than 1600 students and about 70 employees, with equipment and buildings worth thousands of dollars.

A summary of a recent meeting of the Mississippi Arts Commission appears in the Senior Citizens News column in Thursday's Echo.

Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett was unable to attend the meeting and Ms. Pete Carr was asked to cover the meeting.

Hancock Seniors slate art show

The Hancock County Library with open house set for December 7 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at which time refreshments will be served.

In this exhibit any artist over 60 years of age who is not a member of the Center is invited to participate in the show. The deadline for all paintings to be in is December 5 and it is requested that the paintings be wired for hanging.

There will be available special slips to hang unframed paintings.

If interested please bring in your paintings by December 5.

Institute warns against Christmas hazards

CHRISTMAS SEASON BRINGS INCREASED FIRE POTENTIAL

Twinkling Christmas lights, dancing candle flames and crackling fireplace logs can add to the warmth of the Yuletide season; unfortunately, they also can contribute to the making of a holiday disaster.

The Insurance Information Institute reminds residents that the possibility of a fire increases during the winter months and urges residents to be more fire safety conscious during the holidays.

Last year fires occurred about once every 41 seconds in a residence, and more than 5,000 people lost their life in residential fires.

The 1978 dollar loss from fires totaled a record $4 billion.

For a safer Christmas, the Institute offers the following reminders:

Only purchase a Christmas tree that is still fresh. If needles readily fall from the tree when you shake it, choose another;

Before setting the tree in its stand, cut an inch off the base of the trunk, which will help the tree to absorb water better.

Check the water level in the stand at least once a day;

Keep your tree away from heat sources that can ignite it or dry it out, such as candles, fireplaces, place heaters and electrical appliances;

Whether you have a natural or an artificial tree, make sure that your lights are approved by Underwriters Laboratories and that they are safe to be used with your tree. Don't use a string of lights on a metal tree; instead, use a spot light;

Check that your light cords and any extension cords have not become frayed, and never plug several strings of lights or other electrical items into one extension cord;

Be sure that tree lights do not touch packages underneath; and when leaving home or going to sleep, disconnect all tree lights and all outside lights;

Do not use flammable decorations on any tree;

Never leave lighted candles where children or pets can play with them or knock them over. Keep candles away from drapes and other materials that burn easily;

Never burn package wrappings or other trash in a fireplace;

Always keep your screen in place while using your fireplace; and do not leave a fire unattended, especially at night;

Store ashes from the fireplace outside the house in a closed metal container.

'Twas the Law!

"Whosoever shall be found observing any such day as Christmas and the like, either by forbearing labor, feasting, or any other way upon such account as aforesaid, every such person so offending shall pay for each offense five shillings as a fine to the country."

Law passed by the Pilgrims in 1659.

Tree lighting planned

Mrs. Helen Mallini and Ms. Ann Gerads presented a cultural program on Belly Dancing for members of Alpha Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, when they met Nov. 26 in the Pass Christian home of Lenore Puckett.

Tinal plans were discussed for the Pass Christian Christmas Tree lighting to be held at 7:00 p.m. Dec. 14.

The chapter will host a Christmas party for the Dixie White House Nursing Home on Dec. 15.

Members will have a secret sister gift exchange at the next meeting to be held Dec. 11 at the Homestead Restaurant in Bay St. Louis.

A Prayer by St. Francis Of Assisi

Lord, make me an instrument of your peace...

Where there is hatred,

let me sow love;

Where there is injury,

pardon;

Where there is despair,

hope;

Where there is darkness,

light;

Where there is sadness,

joy.

O Divine Master, grant

that I may not so much

To be loved,

as to love;

For it is in giving that we receive;

It is in pardoning

that we are pardoned;

And it is in dying

that we are born

To eternal life.

ONE SOLITARY LIFE

He was born in an obscure village, the child of a peasant woman. He grew up in another village, where He worked in a carpenter shop until He was thirty. Then, for three years, He was an itinerant preacher. He never wrote a book. He never held an office. He never had a family or owned a home. He didn't go to college. He never visited a big city. He never traveled two hundred miles from the place where He was born. He did none of the things that usually accompany greatness. He had no credentials but Himself. He was only thirty-three when the tide of public opinion turned against Him. His friends ran away. One of them denied Him. He was turned over to His enemies and went through the mockery of a trial. He was nailed to a cross between two thieves. While He was dying, His executioners gambled for His garments, the only property He had on earth. When He was dead, He was laid in a borrowed grave through the pity of a friend. Nineteen centuries have come and gone, and today He is the central figure of the human race. All the armies that ever marched, all the navies that ever sailed, all the parliaments that ever sat, all the kings that ever reigned, put together, have not affected the life of man on this earth as much as that one solitary life.

Mistletoe, Anyone?

Most likely there is a sprig of mistletoe hung from a chandelier or over a doorway. This is a curious custom, and one that has been kept alive over centuries. Although the mistletoe's use now is simply traditional, in earlier centuries it had very specific meaning and it was even believed to have special powers.

Virgil was one of the first to refer to mistletoe. In his tale of Aeneas's venture to the underworld, it was a bough of mistletoe which Aeneas plucked from the oak to safeguard him on his journey. This bough was called the Golden Bough, for as the berries mature they assume a yellow tinge which the ancients thought symbolized gold.

When the Animals Could Talk

A charming legend has it that animals were given the gift of speech at midnight during the holy season. According to the tradition, the cock would crow, "Christus natus est," (Christ is born) the ox would reply, "Ubi?" (Where?) the lamb would answer, "Bethlehem" and the ass would bray, "Eamus!" ... 'Star of Stars' presentations continuing at planetarium

The City of Jackson-Davis Planetarium announces its second annual Christmas program. Freshly revised from the 1978 production, "Star of Stars" (written by Carroll Brinson, author of "Jackson-A Special Kind of Place") explores the nature of the Star of Bethlehem...the Christmas star.

Some say that the "Star" was a conjunction of the planets Saturn and Jupiter in the constellation Pisces. Others believe that it was a meteor or a comet. And many simply accept with faith that it happened supernaturally. No one in this day and time can say for certain what happened.

Through the planetarium's technology, we are able to explore the various possibilities which might give scientific validity to the appearance, location, and duration of that special "Star" which long ago led the Wise Men to Bethlehem. "Star of Stars" take the audience back in time to the birth of Christ; projecting on the dome of the planetarium the exact way the sky looked at that time.

Combining history, religion, music, and astronomy, the goal of the presentation is to bring through words and pictures deeper understanding appreciation for the beauty, grandeur, and mysteries of the Christmas Story.

Although the presentation is filled with mind-boggling facts about the sun, the stars, and the planets, the ending is very simple...The lasting Stars of Christmas are Light, Hope, Rejoicing, and Love--each giving its own special meaning to this joyous season.

"Star of Stars" opened Nov. 27 at 8:00 p.m., and will be presented Tuesday through Sunday nights at 8:00 p.m. with matinees on Saturdays and Sundays at 2:00 and 4:00 p.m.

Additional matinees on Dec. 28-29 at 2:00 p.m. Admission prices are $2.00 for adults and $1.25 for children and senior citizens.

Old-Fashioned Christmas Holds Appeal

This is the time of year when our thoughts travel backward in time, to Christmases of recent memory, or perhaps to Christmases of long ago.

For even though most of us have never celebrated an old-fashioned Christmas, its memory is lovingly perpetuated through song and art.

"Dashing through the snow, in a one-horse open sleigh," sing youngsters whose only acquaintance with a horse may be through television.

Choirs sing, "God rest ye merry, gentlemen," bringing to mind scenes of Victorian England at Christmastime, when carolers gathered beneath lanterns. Nostalgic Christmas cards recall such scenes to us with fond artistry.

Today's tree glitters with bright baubles, but we speak wistfully of the old-fashioned tree, strung with popcorn and cranberries, by the children's hands. And, in the good old days, Dad and the youngsters would have chopped down the tree themselves, and brought it triumphantly home on Junior's sled.

In days gone by, the stockings really were hung by the chimney with care — and, in the fireplace, logs would be crackling away with cheery warmth.

The sounds of Christmas were very special in those days. Sleighbells had their own magical music and church bells called out to the faithful with a joyous peal.

But, most of all, Christmas was a time for laughter. The laughter of children skating merrily across a pond or neighbors exchanging greetings of the season as their sleighs passed.

No doubt the popularity of Dickens' stories have helped perpetuate this image of Victorian England, merrily celebrating the holiday season. The exchange of gifts and cards were an important part of the Victorian Christmas, as was the holiday feast.

There was much visiting back and forth among family and friends, in horse-drawn coaches that wended their way along snowy thoroughfares.

Couples kissed under the mistletoe and children exclaimed delightedly at the arrival of the blazing plum pudding at holiday tables.

But, though the externals have changed greatly — we now go off to Grandma's in the family car instead of a sleigh — we still celebrate Christmas in the same spirit of joy and generosity that characterized Dickens' England and the America of yesteryear.

Joyful carols are still part of every Christmas today, as are gifts lovingly chosen and holiday dishes that have been painstakingly prepared.

Whatever the era, Christmas is still Christmas... a season of love and laughter that transcends both space and time.

Christmas at Old Capitol begins Dec. 9 in Jackson

"Christmas at the Old Capitol" will begin this year on Dec. 9, opening the Christmas season for Mississippians young and old with its traditional attractions: the giant tree in the rotunda; a model train display, concerts, Christmas films, and more.

Opening this year's exhibit will be a concert of carols by the Piney Woods School Choir at 3:00 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 9.

Other groups presenting concerts during the month are the Briarwood Drive Baptist Church Children's Choir, Dec. 15 at 3:00 p.m.; Eddie Lee Jackson and the Corinthians, Dec. 16 at 3:00 p.m.; and the Cathedral Choir of St. Andrew's Episcopal Cathedral, Dec. 23 at 3:00 p.m.

The centerpiece of the Christmas show is a twenty-five-foot Mississippi cedar which is covered with pomander balls, spice bags, popcorn balls, and bows, all handmade by the museum staff.

Smaller trees in the rotunda are decorated authentically in the styles of four eras: antebellum, Victorian, Depression, and contemporary. Antique dolls and toys from the museum's permanent collection surround the trees.

Competing with the giant tree as favorite attraction is the miniature town and train display. The train runs over seventy-five feet of track past kudzu hills, over bridges, and through the 1930s town "Possum Ridge," which is complete with dogtree houses, stores, courthouse, a gin, fire department, and even a haunted house.

Two Christmas films will be offered this year. "A Christmas Carol," the 1939 MGM production starring Gene Lockhart and Leo G. Carroll, will be shown at 3:00 p.m. except when concerts are scheduled, Dec. 10-22. "The Little Drummer Boy," a cartoon feature, will be shown by reservation on weekdays, Dec. 10-21.

A special exhibit this year is a display of silhouettes, a simple form of portraiture that has been revived recently in the Jackson area.

During the week of Dec. 17, silhouette-makers will demonstrate their art form 10:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. daily.

The public is invited to visit the Old Capitol during Christmas, when the historic building is at its most beautiful, and to attend the special Christmas programs without

SPECIAL CHRISTMAS EDITION

The Spirit of Christmas

Rather than be caught up in the many meaningless chores of Christmas, why not let some of them go undone and concentrate your efforts on the true meaning of Christmas.

Immediately after Thanksgiving, before the "extras" of Christmas planning confuse and wear you down, start dispensing love and largesse, and perhaps the custom will snowball into the New Year!

For deep-down satisfaction, show one impulsive off-beat bit of kindness for those who are less fortunate than you. It might be a gesture such as inviting a group of foreign students to the house for doughnuts and Christmas music; or inviting the regular baby-sitter to lunch and a matinee — without the chores of dealing with children; or giving a party for some forgotten senior citizen.

This amounts to "giving of one's self." It costs so little, in effort, in time and in money, we can afford to give ourselves generously. Especially when you can be sure of being repaid with a warm "good" feeling afterward.

You can remind your youngsters and yourself of the true meaning of the season by including a manger scene under the Christmas tree, with all those beautifully wrapped gifts. When Christmas arrives, place the Christ Child in His crib, lovingly and reverently, while you sing a joyous carol.

Medical Association offers Christmas safety hints

CHRISTMAS SAFETY POINTERS ARE LISTED (Presented as a public service by the Mississippi State Medical Association and this newspaper).

Christmas is a time of bright little lights on a tree in the parlor, of shiny glass ornaments and decorations, of spun glass filaments, of lighted candles, of toys that sometimes have sharp, rough edges, of lots of candy, nuts and other rich edibles.

These all are a part of Christmas, and no one is suggesting there's anything wrong about it. But the Mississippi State Medical Association points out that there are safety hazards at the Christmas season that aren't usually encountered the rest of the year.

Check your old strings of tree lights and discard those that are worn or brittle. If there are very small children around, discard burnt bulbs with caution, making certain baby can't retrieve them from a waste basket.

Keep glass ornaments and filmy glass "angel hair" out of baby's reach. The ornaments can crumble into sharp slivers.

Select toys with a minimum of sharp, rough edges, toys that won't burn quickly if flicked through a candle flame, toys that are large enough so that baby can't swallow them. Electrical toys should be selected with safety in mind. Is the wiring intact and strong, or is it loose and flimsy.

Air rifles, sling shots, archery sets and other missile throwing toys are obviously dangerous if carelessly used. Set up target ranges and make certain the youngster is taught to use the toy properly and safely.

The list could be continued, but you can make your own. The prime objective of an article such as this one is to remind parents that in the bustle and excitement of Christmas, accidents can happen. Certainly no one wants to spoil a holiday with undue worry about safety. Make your plans for a safe Christmas, then enjoy it fully.

WRITERS AT OLE MISS
Best selling authors John Knowles, Irwin Shaw and William Styron will visit the two classes writer Willie Morris will teach at The University of Mississippi this spring. Morris, a novelist and former editor of Harper's Magazine, is teaching the American novel and creative writing in the lectureship being sponsored by the University of Mississippi Foundation.

Local Women conduct Fall session

During the invocation of the group was presented by Mrs. Kinnison Sanders, Miss Kristi Mordica, and Mr. Philip Sanders, Pianist.

The program was given by Mrs. Gandy, Lieutenant Governor of Mississippi, and President MFBPW, and Mrs. Hattieburg, member of Hattiesburg, and Mrs. Barbara Taylor, Fall session chairman, presided over the opening Session after afternoon. Senior Scout Troop No. 103 of the Colors and gave the Pledge of Allegiance, followed by the National Anthem.
